MULTIPLE OFFERS RECEIVED. Seller requests all offers be submitted NLT 5:00 p.m. Sunday June 14, 2026. Fort Walton Beach living at its best -- bases close, beaches closer, and a home that delivers the moment you walk in. Step inside and the home announces itself immediately. A wide, welcoming foyer opens into a long hallway that draws you forward -- and then the space unfolds completely. The living room, kitchen, and dining area connect in one expansive, light-filled open concept that simply doesn't feel like its price point. The two-tone kitchen stops people mid-tour -- white upper cabinets, navy lowers, a granite island with seating, and pendant lighting that works as hard at breakfast as it does at dinner. Barn doors, tray ceilings, and crown molding throughout give the home a level of finish that stands apart in this neighborhood.

The floor plan is equally well thought out. The primary suite occupies its own wing -- a true retreat, completely removed from the rest of the household. On the opposite end, additional bedrooms, a flex space, and a dedicated laundry room give every member of the household room to function independently without the home ever feeling crowded. Step outside and the backyard is fully fenced, private, and genuinely usable -- covered patio, open patio, and an irrigation system keeping the lawn effortless year-round. The location ties it all together. Hurlburt Field, Eglin AFB, and Duke Field are all within easy reach --and Duke Field commutes run counter to peak traffic flow, a quiet advantage that adds up every single day. The beaches of Fort WaltonThe beaches of Fort Walton and Okaloosa Island are just minutes south. Shopping, dining, and everyday services are all within the same comfortable radius. Space, design, location, and a price that makes it possible. This one is worth the appointment.
